Dear Steve Partridge,

The May/June issue of Studio International will be devoted to an international survey of video art, and I wonder if you would be prepared to participate in the English section which we are planning at the moment. The basic idea is to ask several video artists who are English to submit a statement about their own work and also a few illustrations with an aim of giving each artist a page of the magazine in which to establish their view point.

I do hope this idea appeals to you, and that you will be able to send me your contribution within the next month (ie. by 10th February). Unless you want your pictures reproduced very small, it would be best to restrict your selection to a maximum of half a dozen. Likewise, the text/statement ought ideally to be no longer than 500 words.

If you have any queries about all this, please do not hesitate to contact me.

With best wishes,

Richard Cork
